British Gain Edge In North Africa; Reds Tell of Peril

Empire Forces Increase Width of Path to Tobruk, Advance to West

Nazis Push Ahead

Invaders Are at Point Only 30 Miles From Moscow

(By The Associated Press)
Britain's desert armies appeared today to have gained a definite edge in the 11-day-old battle of North Africa as imperial mechanized legions broadened the vital corridor to Tobruk — presumably wiping out Axis pockets of resistance — and surged on westward from the bloody Regezh fighting zone south of Tobruk.

Meanwhile, Russia's Red Armies admitted a grave new threat to Moscow, with the Germans advancing northeast of Tula, 100 miles south of the capital, and registering new gains in the Volokolamsk sector, 65 miles northwest of Moscow.

Soviet dispatches acknowledged that German troops smashing into the center of Moscow's defense area from Mozhaisk were only 36 miles from the U. S. S. R. Capital.

This was the closest approach to Moscow from due west so far admitted by the Russians. On the north, the Vichy radio reported several days ago that the Nazis were within 16 miles of the capital.

In the south, the Russians said Nazi troops were attempting to encircle the key munitions center of Tula, 100 miles below Moscow, while heavy German artillery and trench mortars bombarded the town. A nearby village, identified only as "N," was said to have fallen to the invaders.

Battle Rages Unabated

The battle in North Africa continued to rage with unabated fury, marked by heavy losses on both sides. A British spokesman said earlier the entire Italian Bologna division — about 15,000 troops — had been wiped out. He said the junction between the main British armies and the Tobruk garrison had now "been completed."

A Cairo communiqué said British and New Zealand troops which yesterday "made direct contact" southeast of Tobruk were slowly beating the Germans and Italians back in a drive apparently aimed at extending communications and supply through Tobruk itself.

Units of Gen. Erwin Rommel's German North African corps, which attempted a diversion thrust across the Egyptian border, were declared to have been scattered and now to be trying "to rejoin Axis forces engaged in battle west of Regezh."

Regezh is 10 miles south of Tobruk.

British Middle East headquarters said the Axis armies were putting up "determined opposition" but indicated that the trend of battle was slowly developing in British favor.

In the Russo-German war, Soviet reports said Adolf Hitler's invasion armies before Moscow were suffering "tremendous" losses, with as many as 15,000 Germans killed in a single day.

North of the capital, the Russians appeared to have at least a momentary advantage, reporting that Red Army troops violently counter-attacking in the Kalinin sector, 90 miles north of Moscow, "drove wedges into enemy lines and recaptured many villages."

There was no mention, however, of the more immediate danger in the Klin sector, 50 miles northwest of Moscow.

Front-line reports to Pravda, Communist party newspaper, said the Germans were striking savagely on both flanks of Moscow's defense arc, with the heaviest blows apparently falling on the southern wing.

The Berlin radio said Russian troops had evacuated the town of Skopin, 150 miles southeast of Moscow, and that it was about to fall to advancing German columns. Skopin lies 50 miles southeast of Stalinogorsk, the scene of heavy German pressure earlier this week.

Without giving details, Pravda said tersely that "Moscow's peril is increasing."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters was equally brief, declaring merely that Field Marshal Gen. Fedor von Bock's armies had pierced strong Soviet defenses before the capital.

In the Ukraine, the Nazi high command took note of bitter Russian counter-attacks near Rostov-on-Don and elsewhere in the Donets river basin but asserted they had been repulsed with heavy losses.

Situation Improves
On the north African front, British dispatches said the situation as a whole in Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham's 11-day-old drive in Libya "continues to improve" and reported that imperial armored forces had intercepted reinforcements.

Vera Bowyer

Miss Vera Bowyer of San Francisco said through a spokesman that she had received a telegram from Dr. Arthur Torrance, charged with slaying his bride in Mexico. The spokesman said she destroyed the telegram. A copy of the telegram was produced in court in Monterey where Dr. Torrance is on trial. It started with "Dearest, withhold judgment," and ended "profound love, kiss mother."

Attorneys to Make Appeal for Doctor

Mexican Judge's Decision Is Based on Names of Women Injected

Monterrey, Mexico, Nov. 28 (AP)—Defense attorneys will appeal Judge Jesus B. Santo's order that Arthur Torrance be held for further investigation on a "strong presumption of guilt" that the author and explorer murdered his elderly bride.

The appeal may be filed not later than Monday. The judge's order was issued yesterday.

The presumption, Torrance was informed by the judge, did not constitute final decision on the state's charge that he beat the former Mrs. Ada Loveland of Kalamazoo, Mich., to death with a vacuum bottle.

"Evidence that other women might be involved" was one reason given by the judge for holding Torrance. The names of Miss Barbara Bowen, 28-year-old Honolulu society girl, and Miss Vera Bowyer of San Francisco have been injected into the trial.

Council Reports Progress

National Accident Toll Might Be Lessened, Safety Organization Says; Peak Has Been Cut

Chicago, Nov. 28 (AP)—The National Safety Council today reported progress in the nationwide effort to dam the rising tide of accidents in the United States.

The increase has not been stopped, the council said, but a peak rise of 23 per cent in traffic deaths in August has been cut to a 13 per cent increase in September and 12 per cent in October.

It was in August that President Roosevelt called upon the council to lead a defense emergency safety campaign to curb the growing menace. In an attempt to offset the usual rise in traffic deaths during the year-end holiday season, the council and 130 cooperating organizations are undertaking a special Christmas safety drive with the theme, "Give courtesy for Christmas."

The October traffic toll was 4,050, approximately 400 greater than in October, 1940, but the 12 per cent rise was the smallest for any month this year. Traffic deaths for the first 10 months of 1941 totaled 31,620, a 16 per cent rise over the 27,210 toll for the same 1940 period.

Travel in September, the latest month for which mileage figures are available, was 13 per cent greater than in September, 1940.

House Ends Enforced Item in Bill

Provision Opposed by Both Industry and Labor Is Dropped; Cooling Period Likely

Debate Is Ahead

Consideration of Bills Might Begin Next Week

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Legislation to give the government power to take over a defense plant when strikes impeded production and to create machinery for voluntary arbitration of labor disputes was approved today by the House labor committee.

Acting Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga.) said it was a "middle-of-the-road bill" which "undertakes to settle disputes on a voluntary basis." If that should fail the government could take possession of the defense plant after a 60-day cooling off period, he added.

Ramspeck said that the plant seizure section was similar to legislation proposed by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) and gave this explanation of it:

"Whenever a labor dispute is not settled by collective bargaining, conciliation or mediation and the President finds that continuation of the dispute imperils national defense, he may in his discretion take possession of the plant and operate it under provisions of the Selective Service Act."

The Senate labor committee, also rushing work on anti-strike legislation, was told by Senator Herring (D-Ia.) that a proposal he is sponsoring to make it a crime to call a defense strike had been approved by William S. Knudsen, director of defense production.

The decision of the House group to drop compulsory arbitration proposals was made at the direct request of the administration, members said.

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—At the direct request of the administration, the House labor committee has abandoned at least temporarily the idea of compulsory arbitration as part of legislation to eliminate strikes in defense industries.

Committee members said that Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts had strongly urged that the provision, opposed both by industry and labor, be dropped. As a result, they said, it would be eliminated before the committee sends a bill of its own to the floor later in the day.

The members said that development meant that the committee's bill might not contain much more than reconstruction of the national defense mediation board and mandates for certain cooling off periods before a strike could begin.

Committees in both branches of Congress were working on anti-strike bills, despite flat objections C. I. O. sent out a hurry-up call to any such legislation. The national association of manufacturers also objected to proposed plant seizure measures.

Actual consideration of the bills was expected to begin in the Senate and House next week, and the C. I. O. sent out a hurry-up call to all its unions to have delegates (Continued on Page Nine)

U.S. Rules Out Compromise With Japan On Chinese Issue and Arming of All Merchant Ships on Pacific Might Result

Signs in Tokyo Are That Japan Is Not Anxious for War

Nippon, However, Needs Way to Save Its Face in View of U. S., Anglo Policy Stands

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

The martial spirits of the old shoguns are stirring uneasily as Japan debates whether to accept Washington's sweeping terms or to pursue expansion at the risk of war, but the signs still read the same — that Nippon would like to avoid an armed clash with America and Britain if it could find some face-saving escape from its dilemma.

The Tokyo government appeared to be feeling its way cautiously through the crisis today, and foreign office spokesman Kishi discreetly avoided anything more than non-committal comment on the volcanic situation. In other words, whatever the Japanese might have in mind, they weren't prepared to throw Secretary Hull's verdict back into his face.

I think we can say that war isn't inevitable. We shouldn't be smart in going further than that. Certainly the Japanese government has peace balanced as precariously as a feather on its nose. That's how delicate the position is as the mikado's ministers size the situation up for their historic decision.

As this column has pointed out before, much depends on whether the Japanese believe the Axis will win the war, and the position at the moment is such that a great Axis victory or defeat might determine Japan's course. That's one reason why Hitler is straining every nerve to capture Moscow, to save himself from the Allied offensive in Libya, and to force the French government at Vichy to become a partner against Britain.

Might Tempt Japan

Nazi success in any one of these crucial situations might tempt Japan to risk the big break with the United States, and that would mean a fight with England as well. Undoubtedly the position of the European war is playing a large part in the anxious discussions of the Tokyo cabinet today.

Hitler's direct prospect at present is against Moscow. Aged Marshal Petain, French chief of state, apparently is being stubborn about making all-out concessions to the fuhrer, and the Allies still retain the initiative in the battle of the desert.

The Muscovites warn us one more today, as they have been doing persistently, that the peril to Moscow is increasing. The blood of a host of young Germans is staining the White Russian snows in this vast assault, and the Bolshevik losses must be heavy as well, but the Nazis continue to extend the arms of the pincers they are trying to swing about the capital.

Things appear to be going better for the Reds in the far south on the Rostov front. This is more important from the strategic standpoint than is Moscow itself, for Rostov is the hinge on which the gate to the Caucasus swings. Here the Russians claim to have flung the invaders back, and this morning further heavy Bolshevik counter-attacks are reported.

Intense fighting continues to mark the great battle of the Libyan sands. Both sides report successes, but both continue conservative in their claims for what is the biggest engagement of its kind ever fought.

Libyan Position Improves

The most constructive announcement comes from London where it is said that the Allied position in Libya continues to improve as a whole. Analysis of the various developments tends to support this. The Allies appear to be getting ahead with the job.

The most significant report of the day came through the official British radio which said that "not one ton of supplies has reached (Continued on Page 11)

Three Named to Local Police Force

JAMES E. CULLUM

WILLIAM MESSING

FRANK VAN ETEN

Kingston's police department was recruited to its full strength Thursday evening by the action of the Board of Police Commissioners appointing William Messing of 141 St. James street, James E. Cullum of 81 Pine Grove avenue and Frank Van Etten of 165 Wall street, as policemen to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of Officers William Hess, William J. Reardon and Urban Healey.

The three new policemen will assume their duties on Monday, December 1. Under the new civil service rules they are appointed for a probationary period of six months, subject to a physical examination, at a salary of $1,800 with increments of $60 annually until the maximum salary of $2,040 is reached.

Officers Messing and Cullum have been serving as special policeman in the department, while Van Etten, a well known baseball player, has been employed at the Hercules powder plant.

The action taken by the police board last evening was not unexpected, as rumors current in the city hall for several weeks were to the effect that the outgoing administration would make the appointments to the police force before the end of the year.

Board Is Expected To Name Six New Men as Firemen

State Law Requires More Members to Cut Week From 84 Hours to 72 Maximum

It is expected that within a short time Kingston's Board of Fire Commissioners will appoint six additional paid firemen to the city's paid fire department. The men will assume their duties the first of January.

Under the provisions of the new state law passed at the last session of the state legislature a bill was enacted whereby a paid fireman may only work 72 hours in any one week. At the present time the Kingston paid firemen are working 84 hours a week.

In order it is said, to comply with the provisions of the new state law the fire board will find it necessary to make the six new appointments.

At the office of the local civil service board today it was stated that the fire board as yet has not asked for an eligible list from which to make appointments. The civil service board, however, will not find it necessary to call for an examination as they already have a large eligible list of men who had taken and passed a local civil service examination some time ago. This list is still in force and effect.

It will be recalled that some years ago acting under the provisions of a new state law that the Kingston police department was forced to appoint a number of additional policemen in order that the men would only work a 72-hour week. The new law covering paid firemen is said to be similar to the law now covering policemen.

At the present time the Kingston paid fire department consists of one chief, two deputy fire chiefs, a superintendent of the fire alarm system, and 29 men, a total of 33 men. With the addition of six new men, the total force will number 39 paid men.

The addition of six men will add approximately $12,000 annually to the payroll.

Laborer Is Sentenced

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 28 (AP)—John Stromick, 24-year-old Carteret laborer, was sentenced today to serve three to seven years in state prison after pleading guilty to the theft of three paintings from the estate of Doris Duke Cromwell.

There's only one reason why so many people use advertising — they haven't found a cheaper way to do what advertising does. And what it does is save time in finding enough customers to keep factories and stores busy.

There's a chance here for a bright idea. But it's got to be mighty good. Advertising is — Advertising Federation of America.

742 City Students Are Vaccinated

October, November Work Brings Population in Schools Up to Date

Practically every student in the city's school system has now been vaccinated against smallpox as the result of the series of vaccination clinics held in the various schools the past year by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, and his staff of assistants, aided by the school physicians and nurses.

The total number of students vaccinated as a result of the campaign was 742, according to Dr. Sanford. In December, 1940, the program was started and at that time 182 students in the high school and the M. J. Michael School were vaccinated.

The program was suddenly halted during the winter of 1940-41 by the outbreak of scarlet fever in the city, which kept the health officer and his assistants busy trying to control the spread of the fever in the city.

The program was resumed in October and has just been completed. Dr. Sanford today released the figures for the various schools as follows:

St. Mary's School .....	87
Immaculate Conception .....	8
School No. 1 .....	4
School No. 2 .....	17

With several of the members having other engagements the Board of Education had difficulty in getting a quorum last night and a late start was had. However, roll-call finally showed Trustees Lane, Rowland, Matthews, Katz and President Schmid on hand and a considerable amount of important business was transacted.

The teachers committee recommended two appointments, that of Miss Vera Shirley Dunham of 538 Delaware avenue as junior stenographer to Principal Meagher in the Myron J. Michael School and Reeves J. Kelly as machine shop instructor in the vocational school. The recommendation was adopted in both cases.

Miss Dunham was selected from a list of three eligibles submitted by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. She led the list with a standing of 87.34 per cent, others being Mrs. Marie A. Thomas, 55 Staples street, 86.86 per cent, and Miss Ruth E. Kuehn, 74 West O'Reilly street, 86.40 per cent. Miss Dunham is given the position at an initial salary of $800, subject to three months probationary period.

Mr. Kelly begins his duties as instructor in the vocational school on January 5, at a salary of $200 a month. He is to proceed with completion of necessary educational requirements to qualify him for a permanent vocational trade school teaching license. He is now employed with the General Electric Co. at Schenectady, but is looking ahead to a time when a permanent position will prove to be more desirable.

Application to Be Made for Inspection Of Absentee Ballots in Rosendale Poll

An application to inspect absentee ballots cast in the town of Rosendale for assessor will be made to Justice Harry E. Schirick at special term in Albany. At the last general election there was a tie vote cast for Owen Mooney, Democrat, and George W. Brown, Republican, for the office. Each candidate for the office received 620 votes. It is claimed that some of the 13 absentee ballots cast were void and inspection of these ballots are sought to determine if possible who may have been elected.

Shortly after election the town board of the town met and the absentee ballots were presented for canvass. There was a difference of opinion among the town board members as to whether these ballots should be tampered with at the time in the absence of a court order to inspect. One member of the board after the meeting announced that after the absentee ballots had been inspected it was found Mr. Mooney was elected over George Brown. One member of the board denied the absentee ballots and said no action had been taken to determine the validity of the votes.

One member of the town board in denying an inspection of the absentee ballots said that the absentee ballots were presented at the meeting of the board when it met as a town board of canvassers, that the ballots were open on the table but that the board had refused to act despite the statement of another member that the board had acted and declared Mooney elected. Apparently the action taken then was not official and the request for inspection of the absentee ballots is now being made to the court by Francis Martocci, appearing for Owen Mooney.

Washington Takes Serious View of Tokyo Problem, but Negotiations Are Not Broken Japan Is Active

Military Activity Near Thai Border Brings New Concern to U. S.

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—The American government, it was learned today from the best available sources in Washington, has ruled out any possibility of a compromise with Japan on the Chinese issue and has raised a possibility that American merchant ships in the Pacific may be armed.

While it was reported on the highest authority that negotiations looking toward peace in the Pacific and Far East had not broken down, the United States viewed the present situation as extremely serious.

An official White House announcement concerning merchantmen said that these vessels sailing on Pacific routes "will not be armed under existing circumstances."

And when President Roosevelt was asked at a press conference how long he thought those circumstances would prevail, he said he thought the question might better be asked in Tokyo.

He was asked also whether there was anything he might say on negotiations with Japan's envoys in this country and he replied that he thought he had better not. Yet he conceded that news on the negotiations had been based largely on dispatches from Tokyo and he declared that the reason for this was an American policy of infinite patience.

It was learned on the best authority that the current situation in the Far East is regarded as serious because America desires that there be peace in the Pacific and is taking no steps that would alter prospects for peace.

Military Activity Reported
Reports of unabated Japanese military activity near the border of Thailand brought new concern to the capital.

Diplomatic representatives of the United States, Britain, Australia, China and the Netherlands, took a similar serious view.

The same authority who told of American desires to refrain from any steps altering chances for peace in the Far East remarked also that the administration is interested in seeing that no other country takes steps to jeopardize peace.

The source for this view recalled that last spring there were American-Japanese talks on the Pacific situation, on the restoration of peace between China and Japan and on restoration of more normal economic conditions.

Secretary of State Hull was described as having engaged in these conferences with great patience. Then, the narrator continued, Japan sent an expedition into Indo-China in the middle of the conference.

This caused great concern to the United States because it seemed to show, he said, a reasonable parallel with Hitler methods in Europe, as, for instance, when the German army began an infiltration into Rumania and Hungary, kept it up several months, and put the Nazi forces in a strategic position to attack Yugoslavia and Greece.

The drawing of the parallel, it was said, made peacefully inclined people here wonder whether there was a beginning of similar action in the Far East. Such an action could place obvious American interests in great jeopardy, it was held, if the drawing of the parallel was justified.

But the question was left unanswered whether Japan might now be planning action against Thailand (Siam).

The administration was described as seeking to remove the present aggression in the Far East but being definitely aligned against any agreement with Japan which would sacrifice the interests of China.

Geography Causes Concern
It was noted that the American flag, flying in the Philippines, is located in a horseshoe of mainland and islands under Japanese military control, with the open end to the south. Through this open end, it was said, move vitally needed supplies destined for American defense plants.

That fact, the authority went on, causes concern because the application of methods aimed at a little move here and a little move there, with the objective of encirclement and extension of aggression to other places, would necessarily make the United States consider the position of the American flag in the Philippines (Continued on Page Nine)

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Any man honorably discharged from the armed forces will be credited with the time spent in military service after May 1, 1940, on the period of eligibility for United States Civil Service appointment, provided the commission is notified within 40 days after the date of his discharge, according to information just received by Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York state director of Selective Service.

General Brown stated that this information was included with a request from the Civil Service Commission that state headquarters bring to the attention of the reemployment committees (registrars' advisory boards) and of men discharged from the armed forces and registered for employment with the committee that there were many opportunities for Civil Service appointments for such men. He said:

"The Civil Service Commission states there is an urgent need for machinists, tool makers, tool and gauge designers, engineers, inspectors, and many other positions. Information may be obtained from the Civil Service secretary at any first or second class post office and we have urged our re-employment committees to get in touch with such officers and secure full information not only for their own benefit but also to pass on to men who register with the committee.

"It should be noted that the credit for time spent in military service may enable many men to qualify for appointments who would, otherwise, be ineligible."

Men discharged from the armed forces were urged to make certain they can comply with all of the qualifications necessary before making application for an appointment.

TB Takes Upturn All Over World

War and Longer Work Hours Appear to Be Basic Causes

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Signs that tuberculosis, which has been on the decline for many years, is taking an upturn of world-wide degree, were announced today by the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association.

War, and the lengthened hours of defense work, appear to be the principal causes. The warning was made by G. J. Drolet, statistician and assistant director of the association, in reporting the first figures for tuberculosis in 1940 from 46 American cities.

"While from Europe," Mr. Drolet says, "reports are already being received of a decided increase in tuberculosis mortality, in the United States so far, outside of isolated instances, the rate has been held down somewhat."

"But in certain communities danger signals are appearing in 1941. For instance, in New York city, from January 1 to November 15, new tuberculosis cases numbered 8,355 or 231 more than for the same period a year ago.

"With increased activity and overtime work, it is urgent, that corresponding increased vigilance against tuberculosis be maintained."

The British Medical Journal of last week reported an estimated 1342 tuberculosis deaths for Glasgow for this year against 960 in 1938. Hong Kong reports 5,751 last year against 4,443 in 1939.

In the 46 American cities the tuberculosis death rate rose in 19— a little less than half the total.

For this entire nation the rate was 45.9 per 100,000 population, against 47.1 the year before.

But the large cities' death rate was 26 per cent above the nation at large.

Victor Moore, the actor, is superstitious of the month of August for during that month all his family's misfortunes occurred.

IT'S GOOD TO KNOW ON CHRISTMAS DAY, IT'S PAID FOR!

Plant a Tree

Few things give a man as much personal satisfaction as looking up at a beautiful tree and knowing that he planted it. It isn't enough to hire someone to plant it for him. If the work is done with his own hands, he has a feeling for that tree that is close kin to the feeling he has for his own children.

There isn't a town on the continent which doesn't need a planted in some sunny or beautiful spot or along some high way. Trees that flower in the spring; trees that bear nuts or fruit; trees for children to climb; trees for birds to build nests in for generations to come.

How about using one of these autumn days for a tree-planting crusade in your town?

For generations that work of beautification will be a green and ornamental monument to the individual or organization which visualized it. Every tree planted will give years of beauty and grateful shade in memory of those who took the time and trouble to make life's environment a bit more beautiful.

Why shouldn't we plant some trees?

Thanksgiving Dirge

I wish I had lived in Bible times said the turk with mournful laugh Then when they used to celebrate, They killed the fatted calf.

A colored man who had achieved some success in the handling of mules was asked how he managed the different creatures.

Negro—Well, sah, when I see plowin' and the mule stops, I first picks up some soil an' puts it in his mouth to taste, den he goes right along.

Questioner—What makes you think that affects him?

Negro—I suah don't know. But I specs it makes him forget what he was thinkin' about.

When We Know Better

Oh, Goodness me! Stop worrying. Just think about your face. All full of lines and frown-wrinkles. It's really a disgrace.

Perhaps I shouldn't tell you that; but I'll bet you don't know it.

Cause when we worry we don't park near mirrors which can show it.

We change expressions when we pause before a looking-glass. So we don't know how bad we look to others, as they pass.

But we do know that worrying can't help us one brief minute. And always makes bad matters worse; then, why do we begin it?

—Lyla Myers

Cleo—And as I sang, the audience were glued to their seats. Joe—Oh, so that's why they stayed.

He had found fault with his short-hand-typist for altering a sentence in one of the letters he had dictated. Her reply was that she thought he meant what she had written.

"I don't want you to think," retorted the great man, sharply. "I want you to take down my words accurately and then put them in type on the machine, neither adding nor leaving out anything I may say."

Later in the afternoon the typist brought the following letter for signature:

"Dear Smyth. Spell it with a y, although that's pure swank on his part, of course. In answer to your letter of—look up the date. We can quote you—Tell me, Walter, what's the most we can charge this old blighter? Very well. We can quote you $50.00 a ton for the goods free on board. If he accepts we shall have to make sure of our money before-hand, for I don't trust him. Awaiting the pleasure of your esteemed order, Yours faithfully."

Upsyke—See that man down the street? He makes a living tapping.

Stubblefield—Oh, a dancer, eh? Upsyke—No, house-to-house selling.

Most people don't care what happens, so long as it doesn't happen to them.

Food for Victory

Nov. 27—We in America know soy bean principally as a material used in plastic cases for radios, auto trimmings and all sorts of gadgets so dear to modern life. But, according to an old Chinese proverb one Hou Tsi, a god of Agriculture planted soy beans as one way of giving people an ideal food.

Hou did a good job, for soy beans have given thousands of generations of Chinese some of the vitamin A, necessary for growth, the vitamin B for good appetite and steady nerve, the calcium and phosphorus for building bones and teeth and iron. And when fresh and sprouted, soy beans are high in vitamin C.

It's only in the last century, however, that they have been raised in the United States. The first seeds arrived on a trading vessel in the early nineties with the beans gradually being accepted as a cheap source of feed for animals as a means of restoring nitrogen to impoverished soil. Today they are replacing dried milk, with huge quantities currently being shipped to beleaguered England.

Certain types of soy beans are good as a green vegetable—the young, tender shoots being used in salads, the mature beans in cooking. The dried beans may be cooked until tender and then fried or mashed, they may be used alone

THE PHONE BOOTH MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Chapter Nine

Biffer Doane

BUT Mrs. Doane was an individual you could tell yourself brood about. She was a large, powerful woman, and nearly as all as Asey himself. If anyone around the Inn possessed the physique to move bodies, Mrs. Doane did. And she was the only person who'd made even the faintest slip of the tongue. "No body," under the circumstances, was a lot different from "nobody."

That slip, coupled with her eagerness to get rid of Jennie and himself, didn't look so good.

Most important of all, she could switch her mood like a chameleon changed color. She could in an instant change the look on her face and the tone of her voice. To Asey, that ability was more significant than her powerful shoulders.

Of course, there was always the possibility that he was doing Mrs. Doane a great wrong. Perhaps she hadn't moved the body herself. But Asey couldn't help feeling that she knew something about it.

About a hundred feet from the Inn's graveled driveway, he slipped through the tall privet hedge and stood for a moment in its shadow while he surveyed the place.

Now that the rain had stopped and the lights came on, and he really had an opportunity to view the Whale Inn, Asey decided that the place could be summed up very briefly.

It bulged. From where he stood he could see no less than three upper-story decks and two catwalks, and as he started to circle around the building Asey began to feel that the amazing part of this business was perhaps not so much that a body had been lost as that a body had even been found in the first place.

Perhaps, Asey thought, it had been a mistake on his part to assume that the body must necessarily have been removed by one of the people he had come in contact with. Those eels alone were capable of concealing a regiment.

As he neared one of them toward the rear of the building, lights flashed on, and Asey sidled over to the window of what turned out to be the Inn's modern and well-appointed kitchen.

He suppressed an exclamation as the person who had snapped on the lights swung around and revealed himself as the hearty bald man who had been hunting the chicken thief with such vigor.

With the air of one who belonged there and intended to stay, the bald man removed his coat, pulled off a bright-green sweater, unlaced a pair of wading boots and exchanged them for a pair of slippers he picked up from under one of the stoves.

"Huh!" Asey murmured under his breath. "Now who in blazes are you?"

Walking Arsenal

HE was considerably more curious when the man, after hanging up his wet overcoat, casually withdrew from its pockets a small pistol, a short, ugly-looking knife, and a blackjack.

Asey whistled softly to himself. Perhaps his abrupt departure from this walking arsenal of a man had been a wiser and safer action than he ever could have guessed at the time.

Having stowed away his murderous collection in his hip pockets, the bald man put on a chef's white apron and set a chef's white cap on his head. Then he stood for several minutes in front of a mirror, adjusting the cap until he finally achieved that same cocky angle at which he had worn his little blue knitted cap.

When he at last turned around, Asey nearly let out a whoop.

Now he recognized the man. Now, with that outfit on, he remembered who the bald man was. He was Washy Doane, the cook of his uncle's old five-masted schooner R. R. Mayo.

Biffer Doane had been called, owing to his violent tendency to biff over the head with the first object he could lay hands on, and everyone who disagreed with him. Sometimes, in fact, Washy didn't even bother to wait for any disagreement to take place. Sometimes Washy just biffed.

It wasn't a habit that endeared Washy to his employers, and Asey's uncle, Custer Mayo, had been about the only person in those far-off days who was willing to sign Washy on. Custer, a fat, philosophic man devoted to what he called his virtuous, felt that Washy's cooking was worth a few cracked skulls, and he steadfastly refused to believe or even listen to anyone who pointed out to him that, on numerous occasions, Washy's victims never entirely recovered. Custer said firmly that he wouldn't allow his cook to be labeled.

And here was Washy Doane, Biffer Doane, the central figure of dock brawls from Portland to Sitka, his pockets stuffed with or as part of meat or vegetable leaves; soy bean flour or meal can be used in making cookies, breads and muffins.

The pupil of the eye grows smaller with age, and at 50 years admits only about half as much light as it did at 20 years.

lethal weapons, amiably peeling himself a banana in the spotless, stainless steel kitchen of the Whale Inn.

He was getting old, he told himself, old and slow. If only he had paid more attention to his Cousin Syl's discourses on the subject of his clam and fish customers, he would have known about Washy Doane. If he had only used his head, he would have caught on to the situation out there in the woods in all that downpour. He should have realized that Washy was talking about the Inn when he mentioned his land, his business, his chickens, and all the rest. If only he had thought twice, he would have guessed that Washy was the girl's father, the "Dad" she referred to as helping her to fix the Deleco system when the lights went out. He certainly ought to have realized, after listening to Mrs. Doane, what Washy meant when he mentioned his wife in that tone of voice.

Asey grinned. No one at sea had ever been able to tame Washy Doane, but the Biffer had obviously met his match in the strapping Mrs. Doane!

He pecked in at the window again.

Washy was sitting at the center table with a small slate in front of him and two cookbooks by his elbow, apparently busily absorbed in the task of menu making. Twice, while Asey watched, Washy got up and checked items in the vast corner refrigerator. During one of his checking trips he poured himself out a tumbler of milk, and when a gray-and-white cat jumped up on the table, Washy obligingly poured some of his milk out on the table top for her to lap.

Too Peaceful

IT certainly was a peaceful scene, Asey thought. It was so very peaceful, and Washy was so very innocent, and everything was so very tranquil and homelike that it began to be just a little sinister.

Asey ducked back from the window as the head of Mrs. Doane appeared in the doorway behind Washy. She looked thoughtfully at her husband's back, and then disappeared from sight. She was tiptoeing, Asey concluded, because Washy gave no indication of having heard her.

"Huh!" Asey murmured. "Pussyfootin', are you?"

It might be just as well to find out what for, he figured, and promptly started around the eel.

He circled past an incinerator, a bulkhead, and a couple of woodsheds, hurried by a stretch of what seemed to be some of the original boarding-house piazza, and found himself once more at the front of the house.

A large black sedan was just drawing up to a stop by the front door, and Asey paused by a clump of lilac bushes while a large woman, of the type scornfully referred to by Jennie as a stuffy, was assisted out by an equally over-stuffed chauffeur.

"Good night, Alfred," the woman said. "Good night, ma'am."

The woman walked hesitantly up two steps, and then she turned around.

"Alfred, did you take my blue Bergdorf to the cleaner's?" "Yes, Mrs. Clutterfield."

The woman still hesitated. "And it will be quite all right about the pay raise, Alfred. I'm afraid I spoke rather hastily about it yesterday. Of course, times are hard, you know, Alfred. You can't be sure about things any more. Mr. Fredley at the bank said taxes were going to be simply terrible."

Asey's fingers drummed impatiently against his sides as Mrs. Clutterfield went into detail on the tax situation as foreseen by Mr. Fredley at the bank.

"But I will manage somehow," Mrs. Clutterfield said. "Er—Alfred, you won't tell, will you?" Asey raised his eyebrows.

"No, Mrs. Clutterfield. You may depend on me."

"It will be our little secret, Alfred. Just a little secret between you and me," Mrs. Clutterfield said coyly.

"Yes, ma'am."

"I suppose you really can manage quite nicely by yourself, Alfred?"

Alfred nodded and assured Mrs. Clutterfield that he could manage all right, only it might take quite a long time.

Although it sounded to Asey like a thoroughly convincing assurance, it didn't appear to dispel the doubts in Mrs. Clutterfield's mind. Instead of proceeding up the steps and into the Inn and out of his way, as Asey fervently wished she would, Mrs. Clutterfield continued to teeter on the second step.

Her next contribution to the conversation was so unexpected that it hit Asey with the effect of a right to the jaw. "I suppose," she said anxiously, "that body wouldn't really keep over night in the trunk, would it, Alfred?"

The growing scarcity is putting emphasis on the new casseroles and other ovenware of earthenware and fine semi-porcelain or semi-vitreous ware. This ware—as well as enameled ware and glass utensils—should be washed just as you wash your dishes. If foods are encrusted, and then remove with the acid of a gentle scouring powder . . . never use a harsh abrasive or steel wool pads. (The pads are fine for keeping metals bright.) Calgonized soft water makes the care of both tableware and utensils much easier because even a mild soap will make a wonderfully rich suds.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Prison Break

Richmond, Va.—The next time H. A. Johnson locks his automobile he will be certain there is no Great Dane inside.

Shutting the car doors and locking them after nightfall, he failed to see the dog inside. The animal waited a decent length of time (some time the next day), and then went out a back window—through the glass—after trying to dig out through the upholstery.

Hungry Burglar

Charlotte, N. C.—It must have been a home-loving type of thief who broke into T. V. Barefoot's house. He stole a revolver—and while there, ate half a pie and drank three-fourths of a quart of buttermilk.

Almost Serious

Peru, Ind.—A Pennsylvania railroad train hit an automobile.

Arch Estabrook, 42, pulled from the wreckage and taken to a hospital suffering from shock, kept asking state police to find his wife.

They hunted up and down the tracks. Trainmen looked over the locomotive when it drew into Logansport. No Mrs. Estabrook.

Finally the officers went back to talk with the driver. He was better. He remembered then that he'd been driving alone.

Oops—Slipped!

San Jose, Calif.—An unexpected flurry of hard blows so excited Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis last night he knocked out George Giambastiani of Los Angeles in the third round of a four round exhibition.

"I'm awfully sorry," the Bomber apologized later. "In the excitement I slipped one too many in."

The Way's Clear

Portland, Ore.—It sounded like Santa had come early at the J. W. Hens' house.

There was a racket in the fireplace chimney, a shower of soot and two woodpeckers emerged into the room.

It took the cops to get 'em out.

New Booklet on Your Income Tax

How to Figure Out Deductions

How much income tax will you pay for 1941? For everyone, new and long-accustomed taxpayers, that's a question to answer now—long before March 15, filing date.

If you are single and making $15 a week you will have to file a return, and you may pay a tax. You must file and you may pay, too, if you are married and making over $1,500 a year.

But the tax may not be as much as you fear. You can deduct for transportation expenses, phone calls, and even entertainment made necessary by business, if you are not reimbursed by an employer. (Carefare to work, however, is not deductible.)

You can also deduct for union dues, for taxes on you home and many other expenses.

If you are married and supporting your wife you get a "personal exemption" of $1,500—so if you make just $1,500 a year, although you fill in an income tax return, you actually pay no tax at all.

How much should you rightfully pay? Our 32-page booklet clearly explains the ins and outs of income tax payments for single, married, business men, farmers, tells what you may and may not deduct. Has simplified income tax table.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of "Your 1942 Income Tax Guide" to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to dress, and the name of booklet.

Slightly Injured

Family Is Routed In Night by Fire

Eckert Home Is Damaged but Work of Firemen Save Structure

Awakened from sleep by the odor of smoke in the bedroom Thursday night Mrs. Clifton D. Eckert of 137 Mary's avenue arose and investigated, finding the rear of the house in flames. She promptly called the fire department who received the call at 11:51 o'clock.

With Mrs. Eckert in the house at the time were her two children and her husband's mother. Mr. Eckert, who is a special agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was not at home at the time but was attending the Elks dinner to Mayor-elect William F. Edelmuth and Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk.

When the fire department reached the house it was to find the kitchen in flames, and the intense heat had caused considerable damage to the other parts of the house, singeing the window curtains and upholstery of the furnishings. The interior of the kitchen was ruined.

After calling the fire department Mrs. Eckert hastily awakened her children and her mother-in-law and they made their way safely out of the burning house.

The quick discovery of the fire and the prompt response of the fire department saved the house from being destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Would Examine Minutes of Jury

Lawyer Makes Application in Trapanio Case

An application to examine the special grand jury minutes in the case of Salvatore Trapanio, charged with murder in the second degree, was made before Judge Harry E. Schirick in Albany this morning by Attorney Michael Nardone, who appeared in behalf of Lorenzo and Joseph F. Carino, New York attorneys, who are defending Trapanio.

The motion was opposed by District Attorney N. Lewis, before Judge Schirick after hearing both sides denied the application.

The case against Trapanio will be moved for trial in county court on Monday.

Trapanio is accused of killing Joseph Ballo at Tucker's Corners about 19 years ago, and was brought back to Ulster county from California where he had been living for some time.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Stock market leaders continued on the downward road today as the slightly darker news picture caused lightening of commitments in virtually all departments.

While a number of stragglers managed to cling to small plus marks, declines of fractions to around 2 points predominated near the final hour. Dealings quickened at intervals and transfers for the full proceedings were at the rate of about 900,000 shares.

Aside from persistent tax selling, principal handicap for sentiment, brokers said, remained in the critical Far Eastern situation. Commodities improved after early hesitancy. Bonds were mixed.

Among stocks American Telephone and Chrysler were soft spots at new year's bottoms. Backward were General Motors, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Santa Fe, Great Northern, du Pont, Anaconda, American Public Service, N. J. and International Harvester.

In the resistant area were U. S. Rubber, Glenn Martin, Boeing, Standard Oil (N. J.), Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum and Union Carbide.

DEFENSE SPECIAL IN Poughkeepsie Tomorrow

The Defense Special Clinic train stopping in Poughkeepsie Saturday on its swing through the eastern states has already rolled up an impressive record in the present drive of the division of contract distribution of O. P. M. to enlist small manufacturers and machine shop operators in defense production.

Figures tabulated by D. C. D. train officials showed that by the close of November 26, a total of 6,128 individuals representing 3,922 registered firms visited the red-white-and-blue painted traveling exhibition of "bits and pieces."

An average of 510 persons and 325 concerns for each of the 12 scheduled stops, stepped aboard the eight-car train by invitation to view 21,000 separate parts of defense material on exhibition. These figures cover only the eastern train—mid-western and far-western trains are having equally successful tours.

Because the volume of work to be carried on is huge, it will be impossible to admit the public. City officials and other representatives of the various communities in this area, however, are invited to inspect the train.

Admission will be by ticket only. The train will be at Track 5, the Poughkeepsie Passenger Depot, from 9 to 5, November 29.

Women to Meet

The ladies of the Women's Society for Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church will hold a December meeting one week earlier and will meet on Monday, December 1, in the church parlors. The Christmas box for the Ethel Harp's home, Cedar town, Ga., will be packed. Election of officers and pledges for the coming year will also be received. The president hopes for a large attendance.

Final Form Uncertain
With members of congressional committees unable to agree among themselves on the best statutory means of preventing work stoppages in defense industries, the final form that any such legislation might take remained unpredictable.

The House labor committee expected to report some type of bill today. It appeared doubtful that this would provide for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. However, it was expected to call for a 30-day cooling off period before a strike could become effective, and in addition reconstitute the National Defense Mediation Board with statutory powers. The board now functions by virtue of an executive order issued by President Roosevelt and cannot enforce its decisions.

Some members of the House judiciary committee said they were prepared to offer a bill of their own, if the one which emerges from the labor committee lacks sufficient "teeth."

The compulsory arbitration feature aroused stiff opposition from C.I.O. and A.F.L. officials, and yesterday the labor committee also heard the provision criticized by Charles R. Hook, representing the National Association of Manufacturers.

Senator Connally (D. Tex.) urged two Senate committees to speed consideration of his measure which would empower the federal government to seize defense plants when production is threatened by work stoppages. The open closed shop status of such establishments would be frozen while the government held control, and wage adjustments could be made by a government board.

Still another bill was being introduced in a Senate labor subcommittee headed by Senator Hill (D-Ala.). It was described as a compromise measure, probably involving voluntary arbitration, but details still were to be worked out.

Special Board Reconcives
President Roosevelt's special board in the railroad wage dispute reconvened today at his request, to consider new facts which the chief executive said had come to light since the board made its initial recommendations earlier this month. He asked for a new report by Monday, just six days before the December 7 strike deadline established by the five operating brotherhoods whose 350,000 members demanded 30 per cent wage boosts.

The board had recommended an increase of only 7 1/2 per cent, which was rejected by the brotherhoods, although reluctantly accepted by the carriers. Operating men currently draw from $5.06 a day upward.

A spokesman for the 14 non-operating railroad unions whose 900,000 members likewise were dissatisfied with the board's recommendations said a strike date probably would be set on Monday or Tuesday if a "satisfactory settlement" is not obtained by then.

The non-operating employees now are paid from 35 to 85 cents an hour. They asked increases of 30 to 34 cents, and the board recommended a 9-cent boost.

Labor circles watched with intense interest for the reactions of two high C. I. O. leaders to letters from President Roosevelt stating that he declined to accept their resignations as members of the national defense mediation board.

Philip Murray, C. I. O. president and Thomas Kennedy, secretary of the United Mine Workers, resigned in protest to the board's 8-10-2 recommendation against a union shop in the steel companies' captive coal mines. All C. I. O. alternate members of the board likewise resigned, leaving the future status of the mediation agency in doubt. The board membership included three public representatives, four representatives of employers, and four of labor. Of the latter group, two were affiliated with the A. F. L., two with the C. I. O.

Following last week's strike over the issue of requiring all employees of captive mines to become members of the U. M. W., Mr. Roosevelt named a special arbitration board which currently is holding sessions in New York.

A new complication arose there yesterday—there were published reports that Republic Steel Corporation and the National Steel Corporation were not committed to abide by the arbiter's decision. The board immediately inquired of all major steel concerns if they were prepared to accept the board's findings as final.

Local Trio to Operate Airport at Sanford, Fla.

Leaving the Kingston airport next Monday flying two of the ships from the local airport, Mrs. Frances Hasbrouck, Henry Albersmeier and Ruth Frankling, who have operated the Kingston airport during the past season, will fly to Sanford, Seminole county, Florida, where they will operate the airport during the winter. A third ship will be flown down later.

A request from the Chamber of Commerce of Sanford was made to the local group to operate the southern city airport during the winter season. The airport is government approved and lighted at night.

The local flyers will return to Kingston in the spring to resume operations at the local field.

Embarrassing Situation

A business woman who lives in a suburb with her husband and takes the train every morning to the city, says she can not take the same train going home that her husband does. A situation has come about because of a woman friend younger than the wife, who takes the same train the husband takes in going back to the suburb. The wife writes me:

"Quite by accident they have gotten into the habit of saving a place for each other. I thought nothing about it until neighbors began to make me conscious that they were raising their eyebrows and once or twice when my husband has courteously helped this friend on to the morning train, I have seen them look from her to him and to me in a way that I resent very much.

"I don't mistrust my husband in the least, but I am wondering whether there isn't some rule of propriety that you can print in your column that might be the answer to this problem and avoid a 'situation' that might be made if a protest comes from me."

I don't see how anything can be done if you say nothing, and your husband remains unaware of gossip, and is not irked by what is becoming an unbreakable habit! If you could take the same train this would be the best solution. Otherwise it seems to me unless the attitude of others makes him self-conscious or unless her inescapable presence gets on his nerves and forces him to take another train, the situation does look pretty much of a fix.

One Reader's Impression

Dear Mrs. Post: I was at a large tea not long ago and the ladies, who took turns sitting at the tea table to pour tea and coffee, kept their hats on. I had never seen this done by those who sit at the table. I thought it looked exactly as though they were in a hurry to get away. Isn't it more suitable for those taking part not to wear their hats?

Answer: According to etiquette as observed in New York, deputy hostesses have always worn hats. One without a hat would have been recognized as a house guest.

The reason why everyone who comes in to pour wears a hat is that a street dress should never be worn without a hat.

It is true that hatlessness has become something of a craze with the younger generation, and a young girl pouring probably would go without a hat. On the other hand, young girls are seldom if ever, asked to pour.

Signs in Tokyo Are That Japan Is Not Anxious for War

The hard-pressed German and Italian armies by sea since the battle began. The British navy said to have swept the waters of the Libyan coast clean.

That is immensely important. As remarked in this column yesterday, the outcome of the desert campaign is likely to rest on supplies and reinforcements. If the Axis can get them, and the Allies can't, then the situation must become increasingly dark for the German-Italian brotherhood.

What may have been a bird of good omen flew over the Allied camp today. Word came that the mountain fortress of Gondar in northwest Ethiopia had finally surrendered to the Allies, thus depriving Mussolini of the last remaining handful of soil in his cherished East African empire.

For the golden throne of the descendants of the Queen of Sheba, the Duke challenged the anger of many nations, and paid heavily with lives and money for his conquest. One wonders what his thoughts are at this moment.

The total of 560 students vaccinated during October and November which with the 182 students vaccinated last December, makes the total for the school system of 742 pupils.

Dr. Sanford in commenting on the program this morning said that it had proved a decidedly worthwhile public health measure, and that now practically every student in the city's schools had been vaccinated against smallpox.

Probation Officer Gives His Report

Jenson Says Department Was Reorganized

Ulster county's first year under full time probation officer service comes on the 10th anniversary of the founding of probation, Chief Probation Officer Lawrence M. Jenson reports in his annual report to the Board of Supervisors which is submitted through the county judge's office under which probation work is carried on.

"It was just 100 years ago this year that John Augustus first conceived the idea in Massachusetts and which has to date grown to be one of the most used and perhaps most humanitarian forms of correctional treatment for those worthy of its consideration," says Mr. Jenson in his report.

Under full time probation Mr. Jenson reports a complete reorganization of the department was necessary. This work was carried on without impairment of the service. While re-organizing the department to comply with full time duty it became necessary to make changes in every aspect of the work, including such things as record keeping, reporting, investigating, interviewing, bookkeeping, etc. There were 87 probation cases handled; 39 supervision cases; 72 recorded intake cases and 1,876 interviews were held.

"We have collected a total of over 100 payments largely for support totaling $5,583.76. These are but a few of the many phases of our activities during the past months," reports Mr. Jenson.

"Probation, I have found in my many contacts and as the result of my continuous observation during the past year, is perhaps the best understood phases of the entire program for social readjustment and correctional treatment as is likewise the functions of the probation department itself.

It is my firm conviction that our public must be given to better understand the purpose behind our efforts. They must first have some knowledge of what probation is, as well as what it is not, if they are to become fully aware of its importance and its place in our program to aid in the solution of social attitudes, delinquency and crime."

Since the resignation of Robert J. Service who served the county for several years as part time probation officer and who resigned because of inability to do full time work, Lawrence M. Jenson was appointed to the position on January 1, 1941. On October 12, 1941, following the establishment of an eligible list by the State Department of Civil Service, Mr. Jenson was permanently appointed.

The Civil Service examination was held on July 19, when nine applications were received, seven of which were not accepted. Only two qualified for the competitive examination and Mr. Jenson's name was certified for the position.

Since Ulster county went on full time probation officer service, a report has been received from the Division of Probation, State Department of Correction, to a report made in 1940. This report in part says of Ulster county probation work:

"Since completion of the examination of October, 1940, many of the changes which had been under consideration have already been effected. The new county judge has taken office. The county authorities have made the probation office a full-time position and have increased the probation salary to $1,800. The former probation officer, not being able to accept the position on a full-time basis, has resigned, and a new probation officer has been provisionally appointed. The County Children's Agency of the S.C.A.A. has been discontinued. The service which is performed will now be provided by the County Welfare Department and the county probation officer. The new judge has served as Children's Court clerk under an early administration of that court. He is, therefore, familiar with the program and aware of the needs of the Children's Court as well as for a broader and more complete probation program. The probation officer has a year of study and supervision case work at the Buffalo School of Social Work and served in one of the local welfare departments. The Children's Court clerk will provide the court stenographic as well as clerical services."

"The county is to be commended for the quality of its new appointments and for the progress it has made in the reorganization of its children's program."

Two recommendations are contained in the report. 1. That a County Probation Department be established to provide service to all courts of the county, including the city of Kingston. 2. That such County Probation Department be adequately manned and provided with suitable quarters and equipment."

Since establishment of the full-time probation position every case in Children's Court, County or Supreme Court is completely investigated and a case history made prior to disposition of the matter in court.

In his report Mr. Jenson points out that statistics show that in Massachusetts it costs an average of $350 a year to maintain a prisoner and $35 for supervision of the probation. Dr. Leo Palmer, superintendent at Elmira Reformatory, has stated, the report says, that it costs the taxpayer 19 times as much to maintain a person in prison than if placed on probation and supervised.

A complete statistical report of six pages showing the operation of the probation office during the past year accompanied Mr. Jenson's report which was received and filed with the Board of Supervisors.

Of 2,643,950 women employed in United States factories, according to the 1940 Census, the greatest number, 648,006, was engaged in manufacture of apparel and other finished products made from fabrics.

MacPhail Indicates Dolph Camilli Will Go on Block

Brooklyn Prexy Begins Plan to Have Leagues Scrap Players; Red Sox Waive Foxx

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Some real dynamite in the shape of interleague trading is ready for a fuse when the baseball bartering gets hot at the winter meetings next week in Jacksonville, Fla.

The possibility of swaps between clubs of the National and American Leagues was opened up by President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers with the revelation that waivers had been obtained on several of his outstanding players.

He did not designate the players, but it was learned that one of them was First Baseman Dolph Camilli, the home-run king and most valuable player in the senior circuit.

All American League clubs also are understood to have waived on Jimmie Foxx, veteran first baseman of the Boston Red Sox. There undoubtedly are many more headlines in both leagues who have not been claimed by rival clubs and who could be traded at will in either league this winter.

In spite of the high honors Camilli earned last season, he has not been dear to MacPhail's heart since they became involved in a vitriolic holdout controversy two years ago. There are good grounds for believing that MacPhail did not consider Camilli as valuable in the pennant fight as did the baseball writers.

In discussing his plans for the National League champions, MacPhail told newspapermen: "I do not believe the club that played the Yankees last month could win the pennant in the National League next year. My manager agrees with me. "I have submitted to the other National League clubs a list of 10 or 12 players whom I do not consider essential in our plans for the future and already every one of the seven other clubs has shown interest in some of these players."

He said Pitcher Luke Hamlin and Catcher Babe Phelps were not among the players on whom he had waivers. He said both had been claimed by other National League clubs and indicated they were likely to be traded within the senior circuit.

Abrams-Zale Fight Tonight to Settle Middleweight Title

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Proving that even boxing commissions, given enough time, can add one and one and get two, George Abrams and Tony Zale tangle tonight in Madison Square Garden to clear up the middleweight mess that's been stewing for 11 years. WOR will broadcast the fight at 10 o'clock.

The sailor boy from Washington and the steel worker from Gary, Ind., toss their shots over the 15-round derby route. The winner, at long last, will be recognized as the sole world middleweight boss.

This will bring back a situation the like of which Bash Boulevard has not seen since Mickey Walker, unable to get his hair mussed in middleweight competition, gave up the title in 1931 to take a shot at Max Schmeling and other assorted heavyweights.

The faithful are so pleased at the prospect of coming down off the merry-go-round, so far as this matter is concerned, so far as this Mike Jacobs expects some 14,000 or 15,000 to turn up for the party. This would mean a gross gate of more than $300,000—and even Whirlaway will tell you that's not hay.

If automobiles average three feet longer than they did ten years ago, additional road space required for all of the registered motor cars would take up about half of the 41,000 mile gain in United States roadways in the decade between 1930 and 1940, according to the Census.

Youth Leaves for Rink; Then Starts Trip South

Mrs. Harry Myers of Saugerties called up the police department here on Thursday at noon and stated that her son, Donald, 16, had left home Wednesday night to go to the roller skating rink on Cornell street in Kingston, and that as yet he had not returned home.

Officer Wesley Cramer was assigned to check and learned that the youth had come to Kingston as planned. Later the police learned that Myers had left Kingston with Newton Priest, 19, of 93 Henry street, and that the two youths were headed for Florida.

The information obtained by the police was forwarded to Mrs. Myers who informed the department that since she had asked aid in locating her son she had received a telegram from him from Allentown, Pa., asking her to send him some money.

The white population of the United States would have to produce 500,000 more babies annually to make the white birth rate of 17.5 per 1,000 equal the birth rate of 21.7 among the non-whites, according to the Census.

Paper at School Aids in Various Phases of Work

A club activity that has been in existence at School No. 6 for the past three years is the monthly publication of the school paper, "The Brigham News." The paper deals with the many phases of school life and the children gain valuable experience and knowledge in writing composition, organizing material, sharing responsibilities and working together on a group project. The members are now rehearsing for an original play to be given in assembly as part of the publicity campaign to sell the December issue.

Other clubs have been inaugurated this year and are proving popular with the children. The cooking and sewing classes for the girls are engaged in interesting and worthwhile projects. Later in the year an effort will be made to form a cooking class for boys. A group of boys take part in a gym swim program at the "Y" every Thursday at 2:30 o'clock.

The Dramatic Club is rehearsing for its Christmas play and program. Plans are gradually nearing completion for the setting up of a woodworking and metal work shop for the boys of the sixth and seventh grades. The model airplane club has been formed and a group of boys is engaged in constructing the latest models.

If your present set is three years old, now is the time to trade it in for a new G-E radio-phonograph—complete with FM. FM is a new kind of radio broadcasting that practically eliminates static and brings you musical overtones which conventional radio cannot reproduce. Ordinary radio sets cannot receive FM. New FM stations are going on the air regularly. It is practically certain that FM broadcasting will come to this area before the time comes to retire the next radio you buy. So consider FM as a protection for your radio investment. Come in! See and hear the new General Electrics today!

Get a G-E — Get All This!

- BETTER REPRODUCTION OF RECORDS
Plays a complete concert without attention—changing the records automatically. Lightweight tone arm and permanent-point sapphire eliminate needle changing and make your records last longer.
- MORE POWERFUL
Signals from Europe and South America come in stronger than ever before. The new General Electrics have 2 to 5 times as much short-wave sensitivity as previous models.
- FINER DOMESTIC RECEPTION
FM radio demands higher standards of receiver design. Therefore, the quality of reproduction is improved on conventional radio as well as FM.
- AND FM!
FM is to conventional radio what the stratosphere is to air travel. And in a G-E you get the genuine Armstrong system of FM. You will hear the overtones that bring music to life—overtones that conventional radio cannot bring you. And reception is practically static-free!
